CONCEPT NOTE

We are face to face with a clear mandate: no matter if classes have been disrupted, learning should not be! The very lingo of education has changed from chalk and duster to MOOCs and Jamboard. Truth be understood, “video-calling” is an apology for online learning because we are yet to grasp the quality of the inherent pedagogical aspects of recorded/live-videos, E-books, discussion forums, App-integrated assessment tools, to name a few. Irrespective of the online learning platform, the pertinent question is, are learners engaged meaningfully? The education world seems to be sandwiched between the sceptic and over-enthusiastic stakeholders. There is a staggering cumulative 800% rise in all MOOCs platforms. Time has come to move from 'emergency remote teaching' to real 'online learning'.

With that, let's put our heads together to understand, discuss and deliberate upon Online Learning: The Best Practices and Possibilities. The multi disciplinary conference invites participants from all walks of learning (formal, informal, alternative, leaning-communities) to share their insights with respect to online learning in schools, colleges and universities across the subjects, disciplines and knowledge domains.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

We cordially invite you to be a part of a transformative event for a CAUSE! Places can be locked down and people could be quarantined but IDEAS cannot be contained! The post-COVID-19 world requires us to adopt a fresh new world-view that is driven by collaborative technology and human wisdom. There are those who are facing unprecedented sufferings and there are those who can extend their support in small but meaningful ways.

We are pleased to announce the Online International Multi disciplinary Multilingual Conference for the larger academic and research fraternity to:

- 🔥 Ignite research insights and into respective fields and online learning
